About the Parish of Christ the King

The Parish is a traditional Anglican church, long-established in the heart of Georgetown, Washington, DC. The Parish has a diverse congregation, including the full range of styles of Anglican churchmanship. The Parish has traditionally hosted this range of Anglican traditions without strife or controversy, and seeks a priest who can do the same. We celebrate Holy Communion every Sunday.

The Parish has traditionally served as the archiepiscopal seat for the APCK, and as such has lacked much of the organizational structure of an ordinary parish. However, the Parish has recently been regularized as a parish within the APCK's Diocese of the Atlantic States, and seeks a priest who can help lead it in its new role as an independent, self-sufficient diocesan parish serving Georgetown and the greater Washington, DC region.
